COLORED MEN IN SKILLED WORK.

The Chattanooga Tradesman has instituted an inquiry with reference to the value of negro labor in industrial channels in the south. The inquiries were sent to 300 leading southern manufacturers, representing blast-furnaces, rolling mills, miscellaneous iron works, mines, lumber mills, saw mills, etc. Replies were received which represent 9,000 negro employes, of whom 2500 are skilled. The average wages paid common negro labor is $1.10 per day, and skilled labor runs from $1.75 to $2.25 per day, although several correspondents pay colored puddlers, beaters and rollers as high as $4 and $5 per day, and many furnaces pay as high as $2.50. The replies, without a single exception, show that there is no difference at all between the pay of whites and blacks for the same class of work. The manufacturers are practically unanimous in the opinion that for common labor in the southern states the negro is more efficient and useful than the white man, and, without an exception, they declare themselves well satisfied with the negro in the factory, and announce their determination to continue him in his place. Many state that he is making progress in skilled work. The Tradesman adds that the condition of the negro is constantly improving, and as an industrial factor his usefulness is now recognized by all.

The report that comes from Tennessee likewise comes from Virginia and West Virginia, where there is a revival of industrial progress. Under the influence of our civilization, with a constant growing of educational advantages, and with a multiplying of great industries, there is no reason why the colored man should not keep abreast with the white mechanic. He will do so if he has half a chance.

MRS. LOGAN'S FIGHT.

Mrs. John A. Logan, a great many of your friends, and who were also the sincere admirers of your husband, are in doubt as to the wisdom of your carrying on a bitter warfare against Murat Halsted, one of the editors of the most powerful republican papers in the country.—Sunday Telegraph.

The foregoing is very true. There is very much doubt whether Mrs. Logan, at this time of her life, is doing a wise thing to keep up the fight with Murat Halstead. It is very true that she has very great reason to despise the erratic, self-willed, malignant editor of the Cincinnati Gazette. He is a great man, and in some things is a very bad man. He has no sort of regard for the feelings of others when he wants to carry his point. The darts of his malice are ever ready to be hurled at any man, no matter how good he may be and how much service he may have rendered his country. If Halstead's face is turned against him. Lincoln did not escape the devilish criticism of this man Halstead, neither has Sherman nor Logan; and there are many senators whose integrity is unshaken as Gibraltar, who have been stabbed by the poisonous arrows of Murat Halstead. He is in journalism what a guerrilla is in war. It is no excuse to say that he means well, for he doesn't mean any such a thing for his editorial life from beginning to end, tells a story of constant selfishness, egotism, spite, savagery and revenge; and one of the noblest things the senate of the United States has done for a long time, was defeating the confirmation of Halstead for the German mission.

But as to Mrs. Logan the time has come when it seems befitting that she should stop the fight. Her husband is dead, the country cherishes his memory, and to constantly bring to mind the unpleasantness between him and Halstead is out of character with the fitness of things. It would seem, also, a little more in keeping with womanly grace if Mrs. Logan would let politics alone for the present, and not get in the newspapers quite so much. The country knows full well that she is a woman of almost supreme influence among politicians. She has won many victories, but now that General Logan's battle-life is over, why should not the wife quit the field, and learn a very precious lesson from Mrs. Garfield?

Several months ago the Gazette made mention of the fact that W. H. Herndon, of Springfield, was about to publish a life of Lincoln. The book is published, and this is what the Chicago Journal says about it:—"It is an infamous book. It is one of the most infamous ever written and printed in the garb of a historical work relating to a great and illustrious man. It vilely distorts the image of an ideal statesman, patriot and martyr. It clothes him in vulgarity and grossness. Its indecencies are spread like a curtain to hide the colossal proportions and the splendid purity of his character. Where it aspires to be pathetic and eulogistic it is a failure. The pathos is maudlin, and the eulogy is tawdry. It is the work of a filthy iconoclast who defies and befouls the idol that he shatters." This is the first attemp to belittle the character of Lincoln in biography, and the attempt will not meet with the success that Mr. Herndon hopes. Public sentiment will send that book where it belongs.

Mr. Goodwin, editor of the Salt Lake City Tribune, says: "We hope soon to get Utah into America, and then there will be a change. If we carry Salt Lake in February, which we likely shall, a season of unequalled prosperity may be looked for. Utah is a territory of vast possibilities. She has unlimited resources, mineral and vegetable, a good climate, railroad connections, is well located for business, and with a liberal government, which shall insure protection to vested rights, capital will pour in for its development. Yes, I expect to see the biggest boom Utah has ever experienced follow the Gentile victory in Salt Lake in February." Since the territory has been relieved of the democratic policy to let the Mormons have their own way, there is a chance for Utah.

Bishop Newman, of Omaha, surely wasn't in earnest when he told the Methodist ministers at Chicago that he thought no foreign-born citizen should have a place in the legislative conduct of the country. If the test of birth were applied, at least three senators—Pasco, Beck and Jones, of Nevada—would have to retire. Minnesota would need to replace four of its five representatives, and Utah would lose Delegate Cane, who was born in the Isle of Man. At least twenty-three members of the Fiftieth congress were born abroad.—New York Tribune.

No, he wasn't in earnest, for he never said any such a thing. Bishop Newman is a sharp politician, and is too wise and too shrewd to make that kind of a blunder.

There is a report coming from Milwaukee that Captain Pabst will not accept a nomination for any office. Of course he understands the method of the few democrats who want to see him nominated. He would make a good candidate for them. He has a very large barrel.

Says a prominent New-England clergyman who has been visiting in the west: "In the west I find more wealth, more generosity, more enthusiasm and aggressiveness in church work and, believe me, more genuine culture than in the east. Will the Boston papers please copy. d. e. o. d. t. f?

The New York papers say that the committee on site for the world's exposition is making progress. Will the committee on monuments please report.

A Fatal Widow.

"Ye a widder?" asked a long, lank, leathery woman of a distinguished looking lady dressed in full mourning on a railroad train out of Kansas.

"I am," was the reply, given coldly and haughtily.

"I reckoned so," said the woman calmly, "and I know how to sympathize with you, especially if he was taken sudden like. I've laid away four good husbands of my own and all taken suddent. One of 'em was blowed up in a mine; another got killed in a saw mill; Bill Johnson got kicked to death by a mule and Sam Higgins fell off the roof of the house. My fifth man is out in the smoking-car and I'm skeered ev'ry minnit for fear he'll tumble out o' the winder and break his neck, luck seems to be so ag'in me. That's a right good piece o' crape in your veil. I'd like some like it if I ever have to git any more, and—oh, going to change your seat, eh? it is sunny on this side. Guess I'll move over too and set with you until my man gits back if he ever does get back!"

Warmth and Coolness of Clothing.

Clothing possesses no warmth in itself, but, as it is a more or less poor conductor of heat, it prevents the escape of the bodily warmth. Woolen fabrics contain a large quantity of air entangled in their meshes, which being a poor conductor of heat, adds considerable to the warmth of clothing made from them. In hot weather we wear light cotton or linen clothing, so as to allow as much of the bodily heat to escape as possible. There is a prejudice in favor of light-colored clothing for summer wear, but it is hardly based on scientific grounds. Dark-colored cloth is the best radiator, allowing the bodily heat to escape freely, while white clothing absorbs less of the heat radiated directly from the sun. Therefore, to dress scientifically in summer, one should wear dark clothing in the shade and light clothing when exposed to the sun's rays. Practically, the matter of appearance is the only one to be considered, as the warmth or coolness of clothing is not appreciably affected by its color.

Increase in Railway Traffic.

Sixty years ago railroads were unknown in this country, and the population of the United States consisted of 12,000,000 people. To-day we operate upward of 165,000 miles of railroad, and our population has increased to 60,000,000. Sixty years ago the aggregate wealth of the United States was less than $1,000,000,000; at present it is estimated at $56,000,000,000. Over our 165,000 miles of railroad there was carried last year 475,000,000 people, and 600,000,000 tons of freight were transported. Upon these lines are engaged 1,000,000 employes. Their equipment consists of 30,000 locomotives, 21,000 passenger cars, 7,000 baggage cars, and 1,000,000 freight cars. The capital invested in construction and equipment amounts to $8,000,000,000, and the yearly disbursements for labor and supplies exceed $600,000,000.

A Mississippi Girl's Retort.

A young lady of Mississippi was visiting the blue-grass region of Kentucky, and was entertained at a dinner party at the Governor's mansion. During the course of the dinner a degenerate son of the Governor talked loosely about things in general, and among them of a visit he had made to Mississippi, remarking that he had not seen a pretty woman in his tour through the State. The girl from Mississippi awaited her opportunity, and during a lull in the conversation turned and asked the Governor if what she had heard of the gentlemen of Kentucky was true. The Governor wanted to know what it was, and the attention of the whole company was directed to the lady's response:

"Well," said she, "I heard that Kentucky gentlemen educate their horses and turn their sons out to grass."

Care of Finger-Nails.

The finger-nails require special attention if we desire to preserve them in their highest condition of beauty and usefulness. To keep them clean the nail-brush and soap and water should be used, once or oftener, daily, as circumstances demand. Once a day, at least, on wiping the hands after washing them, and whilst they are still soft from the action of the water, the free edge of the scarf skin, which, if not attended to, is apt to grow upward over the nails, should be gently loosened and turned back, in a neatly rounded form, by which the occurrence of cracks and sores about their roots will be prevented, and a graceful oval form, ending in a crescent-like space of white, will be insured.

Water Filtering.

Various patterns of filters are in use, very few or which are of any value whatever. They act only as a strainer to remove the coarser impurities, but have no effect upon the microscopic bacteria, or matters held in solution, which are the most dangerous. A flannel bag is exactly as good filter as these expensive devices, and possesses the additional advantage of being easily cleaned or renewed. The most effective filters are those in which a disk of porous stone or earthenware forms the filtering material, but it is best to make sure of the original supply of water, rather than to attempt to purify it by such uncertain methods.

DEVASTATED BY FLAMES.

A MILLION AND A HALF IN ASHES AT LOUISVILLE.

Six Brave Firemen Cremated in the Ruins—Two Expositions Injured by Fire.

St. Joe's Show Almost Totally Destroyed ---The Day's List of Unfortunate Occurrences.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16.—Six lives were lost and over $1,000,000 worth of property destroyed Sunday night by a fire which reduced the large wholesale dry goods and notion house of Bamburger, Bloom & Co. to ashes. The biggest house of any character in the city is that of Bamburger, Bloom & Co., wholesale dry goods and notions. Their immense store stood on the south side of Main street, between Sixth and Seventh, and was six stories high.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday night Private Watchman Charles McGrath discovered fire in the cellar of the building. The watchman gave the alarm quickly, calling out the entire fire department. In the meantime the fire had gained great headway.

Bamburger, Bloom & Co. were stocked from basement to roof with dry goods of every description and thus furnished material for the flames. It was evident at once that the big building was doomed and no efforts of the firemen could save it. In an hour it was a complete wreck, carrying with it a loss of $750,000 in stock and $200,000 in building and fixtures. Next door to Bamburger, Bloom & Co. was the wholesale boot and shoe house of William Coye & Co., with a stock of $50,000. This was burned out from cellar to roof, but the front walls stood. South of this, on the corner of Main and Seventh, the St. Charles saloon and restaurant was gutted at a loss of $5,000. Immediately east of Bamburger, Bloom & Co. was the wholesale hat house of L. Bretzfelder & Co. Their building was a four story brick. The flames made quick work of the hats and caps, and left nothing of the building but a skeleton. The saloon of Isaac Bier and the wholesale cigar store of Virgil Wright, immediately north of Bretzfelder & Co., were gutted. Their loss was compratively small and was covered by insurance.

The sensational feature of the fire was the tragic death of five firemen.

They were:

CAPT. ED. EARLY.
SAMUEL STACKLIGHTER.
JOHN MONAHAN.
ED. WHEELER.
PAT FOLEY.

In the face of imminent peril they had had run a ladder up the Seventh street wall of Bamburger, Bloom & Co.'s building and had boldly scaled it for the purpose of getting a stream on at the rear. The wall shook as they ascended, the long ladder trembled ominously, and the crowd in the street shouted a hoarse warning, but it was too late.

Just as the first ladderman was about to leap upon the roof with a line of hose the wall fell with a great crash and the three brave men went down with it to their death. An hour later their mangled and blackened corpses were gotten out of the debris and sent to the central police station for the inquest.

Firemen Denny McGrath, Frank Best, and Edward Wheeler were caught by a falling wall in the rear and are believed to be fatally wounded.

The scene of destruction was ghastly and appalling. Bamburger, Bloom & Co. did a business of $5,000,000 a year, and were in the midst of a big fall trade. Their loss of $1,000,000 is covered by insurance in local and foreign companies, and they will loss nothing except their fall business. The total loss is about $1,500,000, and the insurance companies will stand the biggist part of it.

EXPOSITION FIRES.

Chicago Exhibitors Damaged to the Amount of $50,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—At 10:20 o'clock Saturday evening a red flake of carbon sputtered from an electric light in the booth containing Gossage's Co.'s exhibit in the exposition building. The spark lit on a napkin, and a feeble flicker soon appeared. In a moment the blaze ignited other fabrics and in less than a minute $50,000 worth of the finest linens, silks, and embroideries was ablaze. The booths in this part of the building contained the exhibits of Marshall Field & Co., Gossage & Co., James H. Walker & Co., Schlesinger & Meyer, the leading dry goods houses of Chicago. Many pieces of costly fabrics imported, and having no duplicates in this country, were on exhibition. Costumes from Worth's furniture of the most exquisite make, pianos and frail stained glass pieces, were near by. In the building was $500,000 worth of valuable goods and machinery, and within 200 feet more than $500,000 worth of paintings and statuary. Rarely was so exquisite and costly a spread laid before a fire.

Ten thousand people were in the building, and 5,000 lost their wits. The big doors in the center were wide open, and the people near them stopped to watch the fire. Those at either end of the building and farthest away went wild. They smashed windows, climbed over each other, and burst open doors. Several ladies fainted and were bruised in the crush, but no one was reported as seriously hurt.

Marshal Musham was seriously cut in the foot by a piece of falling glass. Charles Seyfelich, captain of truck 1, was run over by a truck and his foot crushed. Policeman Dean was blistered by the explosion of gas, but, except Musham, none of the injuries was serious.

The fire was quickly put out. The janitor of the art gallery closed its doors before the alarm was sounded, and not the slightest damage was done the works on exhibition. Except the booths in the immediate vicinity no damage was done either by water or smoke. The tarpaulins and the care of the fireman prevented the usual destruction by water and the smoke drew out of the skylights like chimneys.

The damage to the Exposition building is estimated by insurance men at $800, mostly broken glass. Marshall Field & Co. saved $7,000 worth of linens, among them two table cloths valued at $250 each. The firm's loss on goods and booth is $10,000. Gossage & Co. lose everything, $8,000; Schlesinger & Mayer, $6,000; D. B. Fisk, $5,000; Mandel Bros., $7,400; Haynes, $3,000; H. Dibble & Co., $1,500; Periolat, the fur man. $1,000; A. H. Andrews & Co., $1,000; Spiegel & Co., $1,000; McCully & Miles, stained glass, $1,000; Burley & Co., Frederick Steere, manufacturers and importers of fancy signs and letters of glass and other fragile material, the Parisian Suit company, James H. Walker & Co., $500 each, and Willoughby, Hill & Co., $200. Other firms suffered small losses.

Most of the exhibitors were fully insured. The booths will probably all be rebuilt to-day and to-morrow. The show will go on as if nothing had happened.

ST. JOE'S EXPOSITION.

The Main Building, Filled with Valuable Exhibits, Burned.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 16.—The main building at the New Era exposition, containing all the fine exhibits, burned Sunday night. About 10:30 o'clock in the evening, just as the entertainment in the great ampitheater had closed, a fire broke out in the main hall, a magnificent building, 1,100 feet in length and filled with all manner of exhibits. The entire building and contents were consumed in spite of the most heroic efforts on the part of the fire department. It is understood that nothing was saved but the carriage which was built to convey Gen. Lafayette during his visit to this country in 1842. The exposition grounds are located two miles from the city, and at this hour details of the fire have not been received. The origin of the fire is said to have come from the electric lights. The exposition will continue but shorn of its vast exhibit in the main hall. The loss will exceed a quarter of a million dollars.

Hundreds of people will be losers, as everything belongs to different individuals. There were 20,000 people on the grounds Sunday, all of whom visited the place. When the fire started there were 4,000 people on the grounds, and at this time no one has any idea how the fire originated.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Woman Struck by a Train Prematurely Becomes a Mother.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—A horrible and doubly fatal accident occurred Saturday on the Illinois Central road at the foot of Eldridge court. Maria Sarai, an Italian woman of perhaps 30 years of age, while picking up coal along the track, was struck by an in-coming train and hurled twenty feet. She was rendered unconscious by the collision. Several railroad men hastening to the scene, were horrified to discover that the unfortunate woman had become a mother prematurely from the shock. The dead child and dying mother were taken to the home of ths latter.

No blame is attached to the engineer or conductor of the train, as it is almost impossible to escape running into the army of Italian coal-pickers which infests all the railroad tracks about the city.

RESCUED FROM THE SEA.

Seventeen Wrecked Sailors Picked Up by the Bark Serrideren.

LEWES, Del., Sept. 15.—The bark Serrideren, from Barbadoes, has arrived here after a stormy passage. During the voyage the second mate and steward were lost overboard. On the 11th inst. the bark picked up twelve of the crew of the Norwegian bark Freya, 250 miles off Cape Henry. They had been twelve hours in an open boat. On the 12th five were taken off the waterlogged schooner Carrie Hall. On Monday night in the same vicinity the Serrideren passed a vessel bottom up. Those on board the bark were unable to distinguish the name of the wrecked vessel. An abandoned four-masted schooner was also passed.

Big Fire at Stoughton.

STOUGHTON, Wis., Sept. 16.—A fire which was discovered at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning in the furniture store of A. Erickson, destroyed that building, together with seven business places, two barns, several ice houses, and one refrigerator. The total loss is about $30,000. The large drug store of O. O. Molas, valued at $6,000, and its stock at $5,000, is a total loss, with no insurance. At one time the whole city seemed doomed, the brisk wind carrying burning embers in all directions, and several small blazes were thus started. At the most critical moment a heavy shower came up and with the heroic efforts of the firemen the flames were controlled.

Hurled Into Eternity.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Sept. 16.—While twelve men were opening cans of powder with chisels at the stone quarries, near Vancouver, this morning, an explosion occurred, and one of the men, Pat Delaney, was instantly killed. Four others were thrown a considerable distance and fearfully burned. One of them, Pat Morgan, died shortly after reaching the hospital at Vancouver, and another, Jim Murphy, is not expected to live.

A Mormon Emigrant Train Wrecked.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 16.—A Mormon emigrant train on the Norfolk & Western road was wrecked early this morning about four miles below this city. The wreck was caused by a small bridge giving away after the engine and baggage car had passed over it. Two cars, carrying 160 persons, were hurled into a creek several feet below the track. The cars were badly wrecked, but no one was killed or even seriously injured.

Captain and Five Sailors Drowned.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 16.—Bark Caterina B., from Pensacola for Swansea, with hard pine lumber, was abandoned in a sinking condition Sept. 11, at 7:15 a. m. Capt. Mortola and five of the crew were drowned. The remaining eleven were rescued and landed at Boston by the steamer Dana, from Baracon.

Sunday-School Children Killed.

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., Sept. 16.—A German Lutheran church, five miles south of here, was struck by lightning Sunday, and Misses Ella Hookmeyer and Mary Freyer, Sunday-school scholars, were instantly killed, and several other children badly injured.

EX-STRIKERS PARADE.

London Dockmen Express Gratitude to People Who Have Aided Them.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The dockmen marched in procession Sunday to the Mansion house, where they were reviewed by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress. The Australian flag had the place of honor in the line. From the Mansion house the parade marched to Hyde Park, where they held a meeting. There was an enormous crowd present, but perfect order was maintained. Four platforms had been erected, from which Mr. Burns and others made speeches. Resolutions were adopted expressing gratitude toward those who assisted the men during the strike.

THE MANDARIN.

While seated in his palanquin,
Rode Ling Gum Foo, a mandarin;
Some laundry people working nigh,
Were hanging garments out to dry,
He beckoned with his golden fan,
And thus addressed the nearest man:
"Why do the robes upon your line
Like glaciers of Alaska shine?
Since we set out from Ning Po Keen,
A finer sight I have not seen!"
"We washed those garments," answered he,
"With soap that's made beyond the sea,
The IVORY SOAP they call it there,
We find it good beyond compare."
Then said the mandarin profound:
"Go, order me a thousand pound,
And they who use another kind,
Shall prison cell and scaffold find!"

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

RAYMOND, Feb. 28, 1888.
DR. F. B. BREWER: I received your last box of medicine all right. I think I am much better than I was a week ago. I commenced to gain strength as soon as I got the chills and fevers broken up. I don't have those nervous spells any more. I don't cough and raise as much as I did; what I do raise looks pretty bad but no blood, just clear corruption. I have not vomited up my food for about a week. My victuals begin to taste natural. I have a splendid appetite. MRS. A. F. BERPAN,

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

THE DAY'S GRIST OF WASHINGTON NEWS.

Spoiling a Soft Snap for Naval Officers—Major Warner Will Probably Accept—Gossip.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—It is pretty well understood around the War department and among army men generally that the President does not, at this time, contemplate appointing a commissary of subsistence to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Col. W. W. Burns. As two other vacancies will shortly occur by the retirement of Major Hoyt and Col. Beckwith, Oct. 4, the President has concluded that he would make three appointments together. This would give him two vacancies in the subsistence department and an assistant quartermaster. Although there are a number of applicants for these places from civil life, it is not believed that the President will go outside of the army to make the appointments. It seems to be the general impression that he will confine his choice to first lieutenants of the line and that one each from the cavalry, artillery, and infantry arms of the service will be selected.

MAJOR WARNER WILL ACCEPT.

Every Indication That He Will Be the Next Pension Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—From information obtained to-day it is certain Major Warner will accept the position of commissioner of pensions. President Harrison in his interview with Major Warner urged upon him the necessity, from a party standpoint, of his acceping the place, stating that his acceptance of the position would be gratifying to the Grand Army men of the country. So strong has been the pressure upon Major Warner that he leaves to-day for Deer Park to have a final interview with the President before accepting the place. It is understood that the objections from a financial standpoint have all been satisfactorily arranged, and that Major Warner now sees his way clear to accepting the position.

SPOILING A SOFT SNAP.

Shore Duty of Young Naval Officers to Be Limited.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—A large number of naval officers who are now on duty in different bureaus of the navy department, including the hydrographic office, are considerably worked up over a report that Commodore Walker proposes to limit shore duty to one year. Like Gen. Sherman, in the case of young second lieutenants in the army, Commodore Walker is a firm believer in the young officers being kept at sea as much as possible, in order that they may learn by practical experience all the duties of their profession.

Social Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Secretary Proctor is arranging to take possession of the residence he has leased on Massachusetts avenue, near Scott circle. This quarter promises to be the social center during the present administration, as Vice-President Morton, Secretaries Windom and Proctor, Attorney-General Miller, Chief Justice Fuller, Senator Vance, Congressman Byne, and Secretary of the Senate McCook will all be located within a stone's throw of Scott circle.

Senator Voorhees Ill.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Senator Voorhees, who returned from Indiana ten days ago, has been confined to his house several days. He was seized by a severe chill while at the capital early in the week, and yesterday another came upon him. Today he is reported to be greatly improved, and a member of his family expresses the belief that the Senator will soon be himself again.

Clarkson Will Not Resign.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The report that First Assistant Postmaster-General Clarkson intends to resign and return to his newspaper work at Des Moines, Iowa, does not seem to be justified by the fact that he has taken a residence in the fashionable quarter of the city. The impression prevails that he will remain here at least during the coming season.

Halford Still Quite Sick.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Private Secretary Halford does not mend very rapidly and he is still obliged to remain very quietly at the White House. It is hoped that he will be able to resume his full duties within a few days.

FROM FOREIGN SHORES.

De Coulanges Dead—The French Clergy and the Election.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Numa Denis Fustel de Coulanges, a distinguished French historian, is dead. He was 60 years of age.

Some interesting documents concerning the coming elections have been put forth by two prominent ecclesiastics. The archbishop of Tours, in a public communication, exhorts the faithful to exercise their political rights, but at the same time warns them that the church should shun any participation in a merely political strife.

The bishop of Autun, in a pastoral letter, affirms the right of the clergy to vote but counsels the faithful to offer prayers for nine days during the period of the election.

The Baltimore Is a Success.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 16.—The new steel cruiser Baltimore, which left her dock at Cramp's ship yard on Wednesday on her trial trip has returned. A broom fastened to the foremast and another to the mainmast were public evidence of the success obtained by the builders of the vessel. Her commander, Capt. Schley, said that the trip was entirely successful, and that the engines were all right and worked admirably. The vessel went eighty or ninety miles out, and is a beautiful sailor. "You can be perfectly confident in saying that she is the fastest man-of-war afloat." Another officer stated that the Baltimore left last Wednesday and anchored off Ship John light, the weather then being too rough for her trial.

German Money Buying Michigan Mines.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Sept. 16.—Ferdinand Schlesinger of Milwaukee, representing the Bliechroder German syndicate, has secured an option for the purchase of the Bessie mine at Humboldt, and now holds the refusal of a number of the best non-Bessemer hematite iron mines of the Marquette range, after purchasing the six leading mines of the Menominee range. The purpose of the syndicate is apparently to buy all the leading non-Bessemer mines of the Lake Superior district. Four million dollars has already been invested in mines here by this syndicate.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The new cut in rates by the Chicago, Burlington & Northern had a depressing effect upon the stock market this morning, slacking buying and giving more encouragement to the bears, with the result of opening the market from ⅛ to ⅜ per cent lower than last evening's closing figures. At 11 o'clock the market was quiet but steady to firm at about opening prices. The market remained quiet after 11 o'clock. No movement was made until after the bank statement, which, as expected, reflected a loss in the reserve. MURDERED BY HER UNCLE.

A GIRL KILLED TO SAVE EXPENSE TO AN ESTATE.

Abducted a Young Girl—A Jail Guarded from an Attack of Regulators—Criminal Matters.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 16.—Chaulkley Le Coney has been arrested at Merchantville, N. J, for the murder of his niece and housekeeper, Annie Le Coney, who was found with her throat cut in Le-Coney's kitchen last week. Garrett W. Murray, 19-year-old colored laborer, who, it is claimed, was in the field with Le Coney at the time of the murder, was arrested Friday night charged with having received money from Le Coney taken from the dead girl's chest in payment for concealing bloody clothing which might be used in evidence against the murderer. He has admitted the truth of the charge made against him.

The credit for the arrest is given to Edward Burroughs, foreman of the coroner's jury, whose questions revealed the fact that some thousands of dollars were due from the estate of Richard Le Coney to the murdered girl for wages as housekeeper. At the inquest Chaulkley Le Coney grew pale as Burroughs pressed his questions, and stepping out of the room he called Samuel Burroughs to him and, in evident anger said: "What does Ed mean by these insulting questions?"

Burroughs looked him in the face and said, solemnly: "Chaulkley, you are suspected of murdering your niece."

Chaulkey left Burroughs and dropped the question. From that time Le Coney was kept under surveillance. Le Coney wanted to accompany the body of his murdered niece to her father's home near Chillicothe, O., and for that reason his arrest was ordered. The theory of the State is that Le Coney killed his niece to save money to himself and other heirs of Richard Le Coney, whose estate was about to be settled. It is believed that the dead girl's clothes were afterward arranged so as to give the impression that some of the negro hands had murdered the girl in an attempt upon her honor.

READY FOR REGULATORS.

A Louisiana Jail Held by an Armed Posse—A Threatened Attack.

LAFAYETTE, La., Sept. 16.—Assistant Adjutant-General Feries has arrived here in charge of two cases of rifles and a case of ammunition brought here for the use of Sheriff Broussard and posse in defending the jail against a threatened attack of regulators, who threaten to attack the jail and liberate the fourteen men confined for the murder of Keyes, and three others charged with participating in the murder of Cromier and his daughter last Monday night. If the regulators appear to-night they will meet with a warm reception, as the jail is guarded by a well-armed body of about forty men.

Abducted a Young Girl.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 15.—C. T. Goodman, a young man from Philadelphia, was arrested here to-day charged with the abduction of a 12-year-old girl. The two were found at the Delaware House, where they were passing as father and daughter. Goodman was held in $2,000 bail on the charge of enticing the girl for immoral purposes, the penalty for which, in this State, is $1,000 and seven years' imprisonment.

SEVEN INDIANS DROWNED.

The Red Skins Lose Their Lives While Whale Chasing Off Cape Flattery.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Sept. 16.—A whale chase by Indians of the Neah Bay reservation occurred recently off Cape Flattery, in which one canoe was lost and seven Indians were drowned. The whale was discovered spouting off the coast, and following the customs of the Indians, a report of the fact was made to the medicine man, who called a hurried council and alloted a number of picked men to the different canoes. Incantations were then held wherein a certain harpoon was blessed by the medicine man and handed to the thrower, with the warning not to let it go from his hands except so ordered, lest their efforts in the chase should prove abortive.

The whale was successully harpooned, but at sundown it commenced to blow a regular northwester, and the sea became so heavy that the canoes were obliged to disconnect and leave their victim to tire himself out battling with the air floats secured to him. That night the wind increased in velocity and the sea ran mountain high, and on the following day only two of the canoes were discoverable. By this time the whale was dead and the surviving canoes towed him to land. In the evening the Indians of the surrounding country who had been reached by runners, assembled and a "cultus potlach" was held. The ceremonies opened wite incantations over the whale, after which the skin of the animal was passed around to be eaten by the guests raw, being considered by them a rare tidbit. After this the flowing bowl was brought forth, and the howling and mourning over the lost Indians was plainly heard a mile distant above the booming of the surf.

Card of Thanks.

If the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam should publish a card of thanks, containing expressions of gratitude which come to him daily from those who have been cured of severe throat and lung troubles by the use of Kemp's Balsam, it would fill a fair sized book. How much better to invite all to call on any druggist and get a free sample bottle that you may test for yourself its power. Large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS

Will be run by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway to points in Iowa, Minnesota, Dakota (including the Black Hills), Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado Utah, Idaho and Montana, for which tickets will be sold August 6th and 20th September 10th and 24th and October 8th at half the usual rates, one fare for the round trip. These excursions will enable those desirous of locating on free government land or of purchasing cheap railroad lands to look the ground over carefully and judge for themselves of the rapid development of the country and the wonderful fertility of the soil. For full information regarding rates, tickets, etc., apply to any Agent of the Chicago, & Northwestern Railway.

Peculiar

To Itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

FIRST POINT

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because ignorance is expensive. You must read some paper. Probably you've always had a weekly—you can now afford a daily. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS costs but one cent per copy—it's so cheap you can't afford to lose time waiting for a weekly. You ought to know about things when they happen—not a week later. You live in the nineteenth century, in the greatest section of the greatest country on the earth, and you can't afford to be left behind.

Remember—Its circulation is 220,000 a day—over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cts. a month, four months $1.00,—one cent a day.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail lin to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors.

Dress the Hair

With Ayer's Hair Vigor. Its cleanliness, beneficial effects on the scalp, and lasting perfume commend it for universal toilet use. It keeps the hair soft and silken, preserves its color, prevents it from falling, and, if the hair has become weak or thin, promotes a new growth.

"To restore the original color of my hair, which had turned prematurely gray, I used Ayer's Hair Vigor with entire success. I cheerfully testify to the

of this preparation."—Mrs. P. H. Davidson, Alexandria, La.

"I was afflicted some three years with scalp disease. My hair was falling out and what remained turned gray. I was induced to try Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few weeks the disease in my scalp disappeared and my hair resumed its original color."—(Rev.) S. S. Sims, Pastor U. B. Church, St. Bernice, Ind.

"A few years ago I suffered the entire loss of my hair from the effects of tetter. I hoped that after a time nature would repair the loss, but I waited in vain. Many remedies were suggested, none, however, with such proof of merit as Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began to use it. The result was all I could have desired. A growth of hair soon came out all over my head, and grew to be as soft and heavy as I ever had, and of a natural color, and firmly set."—J. H. Pratt, Spofford, Texas.

THE LATEST GAMES.

Scores of the Various Clubs—The American Association.

At Brooklyn two games were played with the Louisvilles, the Bridegrooms winning both contests. The first game was rather poorly played up to the seventh inning, and from there to the fourteenth inning it was a battle royal. Brooklyn won in the fourteenth inning on a base on balls and Foutz's two-baser, the score standing Brooklyns 6, Louisvilles 5. The second game was rather easily won by the home team. Score:

The Western Association.

At Sioux City, Iowa, the home team and St. Joseph played three postponed games beside the regular scheduled game, and the home team won them all by hard slugging. By agreement the three postponed games were of five innings each, two of which were played in the morning. The scores of the postponed games were: Sioux Citys, 6; St. Josephs, 1. Sioux Citys, 12; St. Josephs, 7. Sioux Citys, 12; St. Josephs, 5. The regular scheduled game was called in the seventh inning. Score:

At Davenport the game was really a farce, and at its close the captain of the Springfields, Van Zandt, was arrested for inciting to riot. A crowd of boys threw tomatoes at the Springfield bus as it was leaving the grounds and the players got out, with bats in hand, to protect themselves, their captain using a whip on one of the hoodlums. IMMENSE GLASS-WORKS.

Chambers & McKee's Big Factory Ready to Start Up.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—This week the second tank of the window-glass works of Chambers & McKee at Jeanette, Westmoreland county, will start up and the entire factory will be running.

This is the only window glass house in the western district that has signed the workers' scale and the only one running so far. The establishment employs now about 1,500 men and is the largest window-glass works in the world. The annual production of the firm will amount to 500,000 boxes of window glass, which is one-sixth of the entire production of this country and about one-eighth of the total amount of window glass used in this country. The weekly pay-roll of the firms amount to $30,000.

Packing-Houses Consolidated.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 16.—An important business deal has been consummated here in the consolidation of the Windsor and Ellsworth packing-houses under the name of the Liverpool & Des Moines Packing company. The new company will manufacture all kinds of cured and boxed meat and sell directly to the Liverpool market. The capacity of the new concern will be 2,500 hogs per day, and regular operation will begin Oct. 1.

Spring Valley Miners Appeal to Fifer.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 16.—The Hon. Adelbert Hamilton, of Chicago, came here Sunday to lay before Gov. Fifer a memorial touching the suffering and destitute condition of the Spring Valley miners. It beseeches him to visit Spring Valley and personally investigate, and to call a special session of the legislature. Gov. Fifer expressed deep sympathy with the suffering people and promised to do all in his power to aid them.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following; Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr, King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made,"

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says. "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles, Was given up by doctors, Am now in the best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at F. Sherer & Co's drugstore.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"THE STREETS OF THE CITY," THE PREACHER'S THEME.

Lessons We May Learn as We Pass Though the Crowded Thoroughfares—Their Calls to Duty—The Triumphant Throng on the Heavenly Streets.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The Tabernacle was thronged Sunday morning to hear the sermon of the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage on "The Streets of the City." The preacher took for his text: "Wisdom crieth without; she uttereth her voice in the streets."—Prov. i, 20. The preacher said:

We are all ready to listen to the voices of nature—the voices of the mountain, the voices of the sea, the voices of the storm, the voices of the star. As in some of the cathedrals in Europe there is an organ at either end of the building, and one instrument responds musically to the other, so in the great cathedral of nature day responds to day, and night to night, and flower to flower, and star to star, in the great harmonies of the universe. The springtime is an evangelist in blossoms preaching of God's love; and the winter is a prophet—white bearded—denouncing woe against our sins. We are all ready to listen to the voices of nature; but how few of us learn anything from the voices of the noisy and dusty streets. You go to your merchandise, and your mechanism, and to your work, and you come back again—and often with an indifferent heart you pass through the streets. Are there no things for us to learn from these pavements over which we pass? Are there no tufts of truth growing up between these cobblestones beaten with the feet of toil, and pain, and pleasure, the slow tread of old age, and the quick step of childhood? Aye, there are great harvests to be reaped; and now I thrust in the sickle because the harvest is ripe. "Wisdom crieth without; she uttereth her voice in the streets."

In the first place the street impresses me with the fact that this life is a scene of toil and struggle. By 10 o'clock each day the city is jarring with wheels, and shuffling with feet, and humming with voices, and covered with the breath of smokestacks, and a-rush with traffickers. Once in awhile you find a man going along with folded arms and with leisurely step, as though he, had nothing to do, but for the most part, as you find men going down these streets, on the way to business, there is anxiety in their faces, as though they had some errand which must be executed at the very first possible moment. You are jostled by those who have bargains to make and notes to sell. Up this ladder with a hod of bricks, out of this bank with a roll of bills, on this dray with a load of goods, digging a cellar, or shingling a roof, or shoeing a horse, or building a wall, or mending a watch, or binding a book. Industry, with her thousand arms, and thousand eyes, and thousand feet, goes on singing her song of work! work! work! while the mills drum it, and the steam whistles fife it.

All this is not because men love to toil. Some one remarked: "Every man is as lazy as he can afford to be." But it is because necessity, with stern brow and uplifted whip, stands over them ready whenever they relax their toil to make their shoulders sting with the lash. Can it be that, passing up and down these streets on your way to work and business, you do not learn anything of the world's toil, and anxiety, and struggle? Oh! how many drooping hearts, how many eyes on the watch, how many miles traveled, how many burdens carried, how many losses suffered, how many battles fought, how many victories gained, how many defeats suffered, how many exasperations endured—what losses, what hunger, what wretchedness, what pallor, what disease, what agony, what despair!

Sometimes I have stopped at the corner of the street as the multitude went hither and yon, and it has seemed to be a great pantomime, and as I looked upon it my heart broke. This great tide of human life that goes down the street is rapid, tossed and turned aside, and dashed ahead and driven back—beautiful in its confusion and confused in its beauty. In the carpeted aisles of the forest, in the woods from which the eternal shadow is never lifted, on the shore of the sea over whose iron coast tosses the tangled foam, sprinkling the cracked cliffs with a baptism of whirlwind and tempest, is the best place to study God; but in the rushing, swarming, raving street is the best place to study man. Going down to your place of business and coming home again, I charge you to look about—see these signs of poverty, of wretchedness, of hunger, of sin, of bereavement—and as you go through the streets and come back through the streets, gather up in the arms of your prayer all the sorrows, all the losses, all the suffering, all the bereavements of those whom you pass, and present them in prayer before an all sympathetic God. Then in the great day of eternity there will be thousands of persons with whom you in this world never exchanged one word who will rise up and call you blessed, and there will be a thousand fingers pointed at you in heaven, saying: "That is the man, that is the woman, who helped me when I was hungry, and sick, and wandering, and lost, and heart broken. That is the man, that is the woman," and the blessing will come down upon you as Christ shall say: "I was hungry and ye fed me, I was naked and ye clothed me, I was sick and in prison and ye visited me; inasmuch as ye did it to these poor waifs of the streets, ye did it to me."

Again, the street impresses me with the fact that all classes and conditions of society must commingle. We sometimes cultivate a wicked exclusiveness. Intellect despises ignorance. Refinement will have nothing to do with boorishness. Gloves hate the sunburned hand, the high forehead despises the flat head, the trim hedgerow will have nothing to do with the wild copsewood, and Athens hates Nazareth. This ought not to be so. The astronomer must come down from his starry revelry and help us in our navigation. The surgeon must come away from his study of the human organism and set our broken bones. The chemist must come away from his laboratory, where he has been studying analysis and synthesis, and help us to understand the nature of the soils. I bless God that all classes of people are compelled to meet on the street. The glittering coach wheel clashes against the scavenger's cart. Fine robes run against the peddler's pack. Robust health meets wan sickness. Honesty confronts fraud. Every class of people meets every other class. Independence and modesty, pride and humility, purity and beastliness, frankness and hypocrisy, meeting on the same block, in the same street, in the same city. Oh! that is what Solomon meant when he said: "The rich and the poor meet together; the Lord is the Maker of them all." I like this democratic principle of the gospel of Jesus Christ which recognizes the fact that we stand before God on one and the same platform. Do not take on any airs; what ever position you have gained in society you are nothing but a man born of the same parent regenerated by the same spirit, cleansed by the same blood, to lie down in the same dust, to get up in the same resurrection. It is high time that we all acknowledged not only the Fatherhood of God, but the brotherhood of man.

Again, the street impresses me with the fact that it is a very hard thing for a man to keep his heart right and to get to heaven. Infinite temptations spring upon us from all these places of public concourse. Amid so much affluence how much temptation to covetousness, and to be discontented with our humble lot. Amid so many opportunities for overreaching, what temptation to extortion. Amid so much display, what temptation to vanity. Amid so many saloons of strong drink, what temptation to dissipation. In the maelstroms of the street, how many make quick and eternal shipwreck. If a man-of-war comes back from a battle, and is towed into the navy yard, we go down to look at the splintered spars and count the bullet holes, and look with patriotic admiration on the flag that floated in victory from the masthead. But that man is more of a curiosity who has gone through thirty years of the sharp-shooting of business life, and yet sails on, victor over the temptations of the street. Oh! how many have gone down under the pressure, leaving not so much as the patch of canvas to tell where they perished. They never had any peace. Their dishonesties kept tolling in their ears. If I had an ax, and could open the beams of that fine house, perhaps I would find in the very heart of it a skeleton. In his very best wine there is a smack of the poor man's sweat. Oh! is it strange that when a man has devoured widows' houses, he is disturbed with indigestion? All the forces of nature are against him. The floods are ready to drown him, and the earthquake to swallow him, and the fires to consume him, and the lightning to smite him. But the children of God are on every street, and in the day when the crowns of heaven are distributed, some of the brightest will be given to those men who were faithful to God and faithful to the souls of others amid the marts of business, proving themselves the heroes of the street. Mighty were their temptations, mighty was their deliverance, and mighty shall be their triumph.

Again, the street impresses me with the fact that life is full of pretentions and sham. What subterfuge, what double-dealing, what two facedness! Do all the people who wish you good morning really hope for you a happy day? Do all the people who shake hands love each other? Are all those anxious about your health who inquire concerning it? Do all want to see you who ask you to call? Does all the world know half as much as it pretends to know? Is there not many a wretched stock of goods with a brilliant show window? Passing up and down these streets to your business and your work, are you not impressed with the fact that much of society is hollow, and that there are subterfuges and pretentions? Oh! how many there are who swagger and strut, and how few people who are natural and walk. While fops simper, and fools chuckle, and simpletons giggle, how few people are natural and laugh. The courtesan and libertine go down the street in beautiful apparel, while within the heart there are volcanoes of passion consuming their life away. I say these things not to create in you incredulity and misanthropy, nor do I forget there are thousands of people a great deal better than they seem; but I do not think any man is prepared for the conflict of this life until he knows this particular peril. Ehud came pretending to pay his tax to King Eglon, and while standing in front of the King, stabbed him through with a dagger until the haft went in after the blade. Judas Iscariot kissed Christ.

Again, the street impresses me with the fact that it is a great field for Christian charity. There are hunger and suffering, and want and wretchedness in the country; but these evils chiefly congregate in our large cities. On every street crime prowls, and drunkenness staggers, and shame winks, and pauperism thrusts out its hand asking for alms. Here want is most squalid and hunger is most lean. A Christian man, going along a street in New York, saw a poor lad and he stopped and said: "My boy, do you know how to read and write?" The boy made no answer. The man asked the question twice and thrice: "Can you read and write?" and then the boy answered with a tear splashing on the back of his hand. He said in defiance: "No, sir; I can't read nor write, neither. God, sir, don't want me to read and write. Didn't He take away my father so long ago I never remember to have seen him? and haven't I had to go along the street to get something to fetch home to eat for the folks? and didn't I, as soon as I could carry a basket, have to go out and pick up cinders, and never have no schooling sir? God don't want me to read, sir. I don't want to read nor write neither." Oh, these poor wanderers! They have no chance. Born in degradation, as they get up from their hands and knees to walk, they take their first step on the road to despair. Let us go forth in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to rescue them. If you are not willing to go forth yourself, then give of your means; and if you are too lazy to go, and if you are too stingy to help them, get out of the way, and hide yourself in the dens and caves of the earth, lest, when Christ's chariot comes along, the horses' hoofs trample you into the mire. Beware lest the thousands of the destitute of your city, in the last great day, rise up and curse your stupidity and your neglect. One cold winter's day, as a Christian man was going along the Battery in New York, he saw a little girl seated at the gate, shivering in the cold. He said to her: "My child, what do you sit there for, this cold day?" "Oh," she replied, "I'm waiting—I'm waiting for somebody to come and take care of me." "Why," said the man, "what makes you think anybody will come and take care of you?" "Oh," she said, "my mother died last week and I was crying very much, and she said: 'Don't cry, my dear; though I am gone and your father is gone, the Lord will send somebody to take care of you.' My mother never told a lie; she said some one would come and take care of me, and I am waiting for them to come." O, yes, they are waiting for you. Men of great hearts, gather them in. It is not the will of your Heavenly Father that one of these little ones should perish.

Lastly, the street impresses me with the fact that all the people are looking forward. I see expectancy written on almost every face I meet between here and Brooklyn bridge, or walking the whole length of Broadway. Where you find a thousand people walking straight on, you only find one man stopping and looking back. The fact is God made us all to look ahead because we are immortal. In this tramp of the multitude on the streets I hear the tramp of a great host, marching and marching for eternity. Beyond the office, the store, the street, there is a world, populous and tremendous. Through God's grace, may you reach the blessed place. A great throng fills the boulevards and the streets are a-rush with the chariots of conquerors. The inhabitants go up and down, but they never weep and they never toil. A river flows through that city, with rounded and luxurious banks, and trees of life laden with everlasting fruitage bend their branches to dip the crystal. No plumed hearse rattles over that pavement, for they are never sick. With immortal health glowing in every vein they know not how to die. Those towers of strength, those palaces of beauty, gleam in the light of a sun that never sets. Oh, heaven, beautiful heaven! Heaven, where our friends are. They take no census in that city, for it is inhabited by "a multitude which no man can number." Rank above rank. Host above host. Gallery above gallery, sweeping all around the heavens. Thousands of thousands. Millions of millions. Blessed are they who enter in through the gate into that city. Oh! start for it to-day. Through the blood of the great sacrifice of the Son of God, take up your march to heaven. "The Spirit and the Bride say come, and whosoever will, let him come and take of the water of life freely." Join this great throng marching heavenward. All the doors of invitation are open. "And I saw twelve gates, and there were twelve pearls."

FORETOLD HIS OWN DEATH.

Premonitions of a Man Who Succumbed to Heart Disease.

Theodore H. Becker of Cincinnati has frequently remarked of late that he did not believe he would last long, although he seemed in very good health. The other morning he told his wife that he believed he would lie down and die. A moment later he went into his bedroom, remarking to her as he crossed the threshold, "I will be dead in half an hour." She thought he was joking and paid no attention to him. In about fifteen minutes Mrs. Becker had occasion to go into the bedroom and was horrified to find her husband lying stretched upon the bed stone dead. She tried to rouse him, but finding this of no avail she rushed shrieking into the street. A doctor was summoned and pronounced the cause of death to be rheumatism of the heart.

GAMBLED WITH DEATH.

W. J. Campbell Swims the Niagara Rapids in a Cork Jacket.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Walter J. Campbell, a young swimming teacher from Youngstown, a little village down the river, Sunday successfully swam the whirlpool rapids with no other protection than an ordinary cork jacket. Starting at 3:30 o'clock, accompanied by a dog, he rowed in a little boat from the Maid of the Mist landing till the current caught him and compelled him to unship his oars. Sitting in the bottom of the boat he clung to it desperately till after Buttery's elevator was reached, when animal and man were thrown out into the boiling water.

The life preserver enabled Campbell to keep afloat till in the second circuit of the great whirlpool he was thrown so near the shore that his father, who waited on the bank, was able to catch his hand and help him out. Once a huge log caught the back of his head, and for a time held him down, but he dove from beneath it and was not much injured. At 3:40 he was pulled out, and an hour later had forgotten his struggles in a glorious drunk.

No one who saw his reckless attempt, which was little else than a piece of boyish folly, ever expected to see him come out alive. He gambled with death with a thousand chances against him, and by sheer good luck came out alive. His father had endeavored to prevent his making the trip, even getting out a warrant for his arrest, but the young man's backers hid him in the woods beneath the river bank till he was ready for the start.

PROF. J. WISE, one of the oldest citizens of Texarkana, Ark., has disappeared, and with him, it is said, went $67,000 of the Texarkana Savings bank, of which he was until lately president and manager.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company have made arrangements for several harvest excursions through the far west. The fare on these excursions will be one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold on August 6th and 20th, September 10th and 24th and October 8th, good for thirty days from date of sale, stop over privileges to be granted at any point west of the Mississippi river. These excursions will reach points in western Minnesota, Dakota, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska Colorado, Arkansas, Texas, Indian Territory, New Mexico, Arizona and Idaho. This affords our people an excellent opportunity to visit these states and territories at a small expense.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN. Station D, New York City.

Hay Fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it since the 9th of August and have found it a specific for that much dreaded disease. For ten years I have been a great sufferer from August 9th till frost and have tried many alleged remedies, but Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. —F. B. A GOOD HONEST MEDICINE.

The above bright and benevolent face, is Dr. A. W. Acker, of England, discoverer of the celebrated Acker's English Remedy for Consumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Acker practised in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and has since saved the lives of thousands who were on the sure road to death. Any man or woman who feels a tickling in the throat, who coughs, especially in the morning, who raises or has a tight feeling across the chest, who has sharp shooting pains through the lungs or difficulty in breathing, should realize that these are the first symptoms of consumption which, if neglected, are sure to result fatally. Dr. Acker's English Remedy has cured more than one thousand persons who unquestionably had consumption and who were given up by their friends. It merits its popularity and is sold by reputable druggists in every city and town in America. You can't afford to be without it.

FROM DESPAIR TO JOY.

The Painful Story of a Lovely Lady, and How She Finally Secured Happiness.

Mrs. Morton D. Harlan, residing at No. 55 West 25th Street, New York City, has passed through a most wonderful experience. Mrs.

Harlan had a happy home and through her devotion to her home duties over-taxed her strength. She had depressed feelings, entire lack of energy in life, and finally a cough at night and morning which grew worse each day. Upon looking in the glass she saw dark circles under her eyes and found that she was growing thinner and losing all interest in life. This painful state of things continued for months until finally she became so weak she could not attend to her duties and was confined to her bed the greater part of the time. One day Mrs. Harlan's very dear friend Mrs. Willard called and was amazed to see her so wan and faded. Two bright hectic spots stood upon each cheek, her lips were blue, her face pinched and drawn, and there was a piteous look in her eyes. Mrs. Willard knew this meant consumption and her heart was touched for her friend. At her earnest request, the use of an English Remedy for consumption was tried. At the start very little effect could be seen, so great an inroad had the disease made, but by degrees Mrs. Harlan began to regain her lost appetite, then her strength, then her hope, then her health, and she is to-day in perfect physical condition, wholly as a result of the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption.

The lesson of this simple story should be plain to all. No man or woman can afford to neglect those first symptoms of consumption, which seem so slight but which becomes so terrible unless taken in time. This Great Remedy has saved the lives of hundreds of well known men and women who were on the verge of the grave from consumption but who are well and happy to-day. It is sold universally.

—Mr. and Mrs. O. Sutherland pleasantly entertained a company of ladies and gentlemen on Saturday evening, at their residence, 10 East street.

—The roof on the Grubb building, corner of Milwaukee and Jackson street, is now being put on. This bids fair to be one of the handsomest blocks in the city.

—Bowles, Hadden & Co. shipped yesterday, a carload of their fine blooded horses to the state fair in Milwaukee. Percherons, Clydesdales and Shires are breeds this company exhibit.

—The Wilson Theartre Co. stopped at the Grand hotel for breakfast. leaving for Whitewater where they are engaged to play this week. Miss Helen Baird, of Janesvillle, is their leading lady actress this season.

—Messrs. Griswold & Sandborn are fully prepared for the fall trade. Their stock of stoves and ranges is very large, and they are prepared to offer special prices. They have the agency for the Celebrated Royal Hot Air furnice. Call and examine their goods.

—See E. W. Lowell's new add. Poor indeed, is he who cannot afford a coal stove at his prices. Over 150 stoves from John Griffiths' bankrupt stock, bought at one-half their value, and will be sold regardless of cost. You cannot afford to take no heed of this opportunity.

—Col. Theo. Goldin returned yesterday from the state rifle range where the national rifle team of the Missouri Department, have been at work. Col. Goldin reports some very fine shooting on the part of the men who pronounced the Wisconsin range all that could be desired.

—One of the glass battery jars, or cells of the fire alarm system, located at the west side engine house broke this morning, causing one stroke on the fire bell. Many people started on a lively run towards the streets and engine houses, expecting to see a lively run of the department. The boys were all ready for the run, but the word "go" failed to show up.

—The Rescue Hook and Ladder boys are making arrangements for their annual dancing party, to be given at the Armory on Thanksgiving eve—Wednesday, November 27th—Smith & Anderson's orchestra will furnish the music and complete arrangements will be made for a large party, and a good time for all. Tickets will be sold only at the door. A general invitation is extended to the public.

—Mr. Wells, of Milton, came to Janesville this morning with a one horse wagon load of onions. Along on Milwaukee street near the Myers House the end board came out and the onions were distributed along the street as far as the center of the bridge. Mr. Wells failed to stop the horse, because the hold back strap was to long letting the wagon upon the horse. Onions to the amount of seven or eight bushels were scattered in the street.

—Our talented townsman, Ex-City Clerk Joseph Wallace, has entered the classic circle with Boston's most cultivated savants, and is now engaged to write a series for Popular Science News and Boston Journal of Chemistry, on the Cuneiform Inscriptions of the Ancient Babylonians, Assyrians, Jews and Phoenicians. In addition to this, he is at present rewriting and editing a scientific work of over a thousand pages for the Rev. John Thein, a German professor, entitled "Revelation and Natural Science."

—William Woodruff, who was brought back from Indiana last week charged with robbing the Wisconsin Telephone Company in this city, of $185 last July, plead guilty on Saturday in the municipal court and was sentenced for two years in Waupun. Sheriff Babcock starts this afternoon with his prisoner. Young Woodruff is a bright fellow, and came from a good family. This was not his first offense, and he has refused to listen to good advice. He will find out "the way of the transgressor is hard" before he gets out of Waupun.

—At 2:52 o'clock this afternoon an alarm of fire was turned in from box 25, located at the corner of Milton avenue and Glen street. Thither went the fire department in great haste, only to find that it was another case of a lady mailing a letter in an alarm box. The lady was soon discovered and gave here name as Mrs. Harriett Williams, residing near the city. She was very badly frightened when she discovered the fire department flying up Milton avenue, and halting at the box where she had just placed her letter directed to a lady in Brodhead. Assistant Engineer Spencer took the letter to her and asked for an explanation. Some of the patrol boys were cruel enough to attribute the pulling of the alarm to the lettering on the box door, saying that the lady on opening the door saw the words "pull the hook down and let go," followed the directions, and waited to see the letter move off to the postoffice.

The best wishes of many Janesville friends accompany the young ladies.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A LITTLE GIRL ENTANGLED IN A WIND MILL TUMBLING ROD

A most terrible and distressing accident occurred on Saturday evening between four and five o'clock, in which the nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henke was the victim.

The accident occurred at the home of the parents, who reside on the Griffiths farm, in the town of Harmony, two miles east of the city. It appears that the little girl was out in the yard at play, but in some manner her clothing came in contact with the tumbling rod or shaft connecting the wind-mill rod to the creamery. Her clothing was rapidly twisted around the rod or shaft, and thus the unfortunate girl was whirled around and around, inflicting injuries which are likely to prove fatal. A physician was called, and an examination revealed the fact that the right arm was broken in three places between the hand and shoulder; the left arm was broken between the elbow and shoulder and the bones nearly protruded through the flesh; the right leg was broken, the right shoulder dislocated and the indications are that other injuries were received which were not discovered on the first examination.

OBITUARY.

Liberal Triumph in Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Information has been received here by cable from Brazil announcing that the election is that empire have resulted in an overwhelming triumph of the Liberal party. Ninety-five candidates for the Chamber of Deputies have been elected to thirty candidates of the opposition. This result is of the greatest significance as showing that as soon as the present Emperor, Dom Pedro II., dies, the empire will end and a republic be established in its place. As long as the venerable Emperor lives he will be permitted to occupy the throne, but the people, who have expressed their will at this election, will not permit his daughter, the Princess Isabella, to succeed him.

Coal.

Parties ordering coal early will enjoy the benefit of low prices.

BIG FIRE IN STOUGHTON.

Eight Business Houses Reduced To Ashes.

LOSS THIRTY THOUSAND.

The Fire Plainly Seen by Many Persons In Janesville.

Another very disastrous fire befell the fire stricken village of Stoughton on Sunday morning. A few minutes after two o'clock Night Officer McGinley called up the firemen at the No. 2 fire station, and directed their attention to the bright illumination north of the city. It being outside the city limits the fire boys busied themselves for a time in guessing of its whereabouts. Some said it was at Indian Ford, others at Edgerton, and some others claimed that it was a big blaze at Madison, probably the capitol building. None, however, placed it at Stoughton.

A special dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel gives the following details of the fire:

STOUGHTON, Sept. 15.—A fire which was discovered at about 2 o'clock this morning in the furniture store of A. Erickson destroyed that building, together with seven business places, two barns, several icehouses, and one refrigerator. The total loss is about $30,000. The large drug store of O. O. Melas, valued at $6,000, and its stock at $5,000 is a total loss, with no insurance. A Erickson's loss on building is $1,500; Insurance, one thousand dollars; stock, $5,000; no insurance. Hildreth Bros.' loss on building is $1,500; insurance, $1,000. H. T. Render, saloon, loss $1,700; insurance, $500. O. Helleckson—loss on building, $700; insurance, $300; loss on stock, $600; insurance, $300. Hollan Sisters, dressmakers—loss on goods, $100. Edward King, loss on building, $1,500; insurance, $300. Anderson & Bergerson, saloon—loss on stock, $1,500; insurance, $500. C. Christopherson, saloon—loss on building $2,000, insurance $1,000; loss on stock and fixtures, $2,000; insurance, $1,500 Jos. Hausman—loss on building and refrigerator, $2,500. Ole Jacobson, saloon—loss on stock, $1,500; insurance, $1,000. George Ainsworth, cigar manufacturer—loss on stock, $250. Ole Aas, loss on barn, $100. A. F. Scheldrup, loss on barn, $100. Dr. N. Olmsted, loss on office fixtures, $150. Several store fronts across the street were damaged, the plate glass being broken from the heat. At one time the whole city seemed doomed, the brisk wind carrying burning embers in all directions, and several small blazes were thus started. At the most critical moment a heavy shower came up, and, with the heroic efforts of the fire company, the flames were under control.

Do not be induced to take some other preparation when you call for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Be sure to get Hood's, which is peculiar.

THE CHIPPEWA COMMISSION

OF WHICH DR. J. B. WHITING, OF THIS CITY, IS A MEMBER.

The many friends of Dr. J. B. Whiting will be interested in reading the following taken from the Brainard (Minn) Tribune, of September 14th:

"Hon. H. M. Rice and Dr. J. B. Whiting, of the Chippewa Indian Commission, with the secretary of the commission, Mr. W. C. Hubbell, arrived in the city on Thursday night and are stopping at the Arlington. They came down on the steamer Andy Gibson to Aitkin from the upper Mississippi, where they have been for several weeks past conferring with the Indians in that locality with a view to opening up their reservations to settlement. Since leaving Leech Lake the party have had considerable experience in "roughing it," a great part of the journey being made in canoes, through a wild and uninhabited region, sleeping on the ground in the open air night after night. Bishop Marty, the other member of the commission, has been in poor health lately, and is now at his home enjoying a needed rest. The commission has been very successful in treating with the Chippewa tribes of northern Minnesota for the opening up of the various reservations, and several million acres of valuable land will thus be thrown open to settlement. The necessary number of signatures to the agreement was secured from every tribe that has been visited by the commission. The commissioners and their party will leave on Monday for the Mille Lacs reservation."

With a feeble appetite and imperfect digestion, it is impossible for the body to secure the requisite amount of nourishment. Ayer's Sarsaparilla not only stimulates the desire for food, but aids the assimilative organs in the formation of good blood and sound tissue.

TOBACCO SALES.

Sales of Seed Leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., Tobacco Brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York for the week ending Sept. 16, 1889.

Total, 4,241 cases.

Very Risky Indeed.

To tamper with symptoms indicative of growing kidney disorder; to neglect for a brief time needful stimulation of the renal organs when their inactivity points, as it always and unmistakably does, to their eventual permanent disease, is certainly very risky indeed. This is, however, a risk that many persons perceptibly drifting into Bright's disease, diabetes catarrh of the bladder, etc., constantly incur. So those who read, reflect and heed the lessons of recorded experience, the advisability of using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a diuretic, need scarcely more than a suggestion. No fact is more generally admitted by the medical profession and the public than the efficacy for the prevention of serious renal diseases. The unmedicated excitants of commerce, no matter how pure, bear in mind, react prejudicially upon the kidneys when inactive. The Bitters subdues malaria, constipation and rheumatism.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

The Fortnightly Club will meet at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Elliott, 225 South Main street, on Friday evening, September 20th, for the purpose of organizing for the ensuing season. The officers will be elected and the committee report upon a schedule of work for three months.

It is expected that the work will be more interesting and the club even more of a success than it has been heretofore.

The committee have chosen the subject of Capital and Labor, and Edward Bellamy's novel "Looking Backward," is to be taken as a basis upon which to work.

The club invite all who have attended its meetings in the past and contributed towards its success to meet with them the coming season, and will welcome any who feel an interest in the subject under consideraiion.

Coincidence in the Louisiana State Lottery.

$10,000 FOR CAIROITES.

Mr. Fred Sticher, the well known and popular barber at 1,805 Commercial avenue, who drew $5,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery on the 13th inst., is receiving endless congratulations from his many friends, and the lucky barber feels considerable cause for congratulaton himself. A Bulletin reporter found Mr. Sticher at his place of business and questioned him in regard to the winning ticket No. 85,332 which drew one-twentieth of the second capital prize of $100,000.

Mr. Sticher said: "I have been playing in the Louisiana State Lottery for four or five years, investing $2 in tickets each month. Have always been satisfied with the result of my investment of money for I've drawn numerous small prizes at various times, once a ticket I held was good for $30. I believe this lottery to be a square deal, as I have never had the least trouble about collecting prizes—the money always came to hand at once. The scheme is a fair one beyond doubt.

"My $5,000 prize arrived last Monday through the Alexander County Bank. With $5 off for exchange and $1 for the ticket, I have a total return of $4,994 which now is on deposit to my credit at the bank. The other one-twentieth of same ticket, owned by the club of ten, Messrs. Laycock, McCarty, Shafter, Nagle, Meehan, Brown, Morrow, Moorehead and others, threw $500 each into the hands of deserving men, who will put it to good use.

"I will invest my money in real estate perhaps, or let some one do it for me.

"Of course I shall continue to play the lottery. I do not intend to break it, but will contribute my dollar regularly to that institution."

And the reporter left Mr. Sticher in excellent good humor over his luck.—Caro. Illinois, Bulletin, August 24th.

"OH! I HATE THE DEVIL!"

Sermon by the Rev. E. D Huntly at Court Street Church.

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE.

A Large Congregation Listens to an Able Discourse by the Popular Pastor.

Court Street M. E. church was packed from pulpit rail to gallery back last evening by an audience which had assembled to welcome back to Janesville Dr. E. D. Huntley. There are but few whom the people of our city as eagerly welcome among them on their occasional visits than they do Dr. Huntley. Mr. Huntley is the pastor of the large Methodist church in Annapolis, Md., but is now on a summer vacation visiting through the west. His welcome at Court Street M. E. church, of which he was once a pastor, was a warm one. His manner of speaking and appearance seems the same as of old. His sermon last evening was prefaced by a few remarks. He said: "It is fifteen years since I left you people. Fifteen years have wroght many changes, and I hardly know myself. One change is that when I have preached here before I have never used but one pair of eyes. To-night I have three, to use in case of an emergency. To-night I am going to preach to you from an old theme, "The Devil." The question what is evil, where when, and whenever comes evil are dangerous ones? Easy to ask, hard to answer.

Thank God there is only one devil. This devil may control hosts of evil spirits but of devils there is only one, and that is enough. He is called in the scriptures by different names, all indicitive of some of his detestable qualities. The devil slanders God to man and man to God. It is a great thing when we can think of ourselves as we ought. Do not jest with sacred and religious matters. Do not scoff at what gave your early home its hallowed associations and your mother all the peace she ever had. Christ knew that we could not withstand the devil alone, so he taught us to pray, lead us not not into temptation. Sinful men are taken captive by the devil at his will. Do not be playing with God Almighty. God is not careless, but knows with whom he can place experimental power. I sometimes wish I could get a cyclone to handle and experiment with, but I can't get up a breeze in my own church. Satan was given dominion of the subtle powers of disease, yet I don't know how to handle the tooth-ache. Don't fool with Satan's great power. Satan with all his power is cunning, powerful, deceptive, untiring, unrelenting. Oh, I hate the devil! With all my powers I hate him, and now is the days of satan's power. The church has never been as potent as now, neither has the devil, and he takes a hellish glee in his triumphs.

Does God answer the prayer, "Lead us not into temptation?" Most emphatically, yes. He answers it first by inciting God's chosen to activity again by the warnings given us, and still again by the power of victory over satan. Here are several means by which he gives us the victory: First, by the bible, also by the church. "I am for the church first, last, and all the time." The third means is by Christ's own personal supervision and activity through both the bible and the church, or in other words, the holy spirit. It is a kindness for God to keep you here, even if you are suffering from all the diseases known to man. It is a kindness, for you to get a training here that you can never get anywhere else. Grow old, grow gray, grow bald headed, if you want to, but don't die. I would not live always, but I would live as nearly always as I could. No, we are kept here for our own glory, for the glory of God and for the sake of the world.

There is a personal devil, but there is a God, as loving and merciful as the devil is mean, and God will conquer. His saints will come off victorious. The saints of God are a necessary part of the architecture of heaven."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

THE MISSION ON SUNDAY AT JANESVILLE GRANGE HALL.

The Sunday school held at 3:30 o'clock in the Janesville Grange hall, was well represented on Sunday. The superintendent, Miss Hubbell, offered her resignation, intending soon to go to Indianapolis, Ind. Resolutions of regret and thanks were adopted. Mr. George Barker was afterwards chosen her successor. The field is a hopeful one; the school has had to contend with the Sunday performances at the river, baloon ascensions, etc., etc., which it is expected will soon freeze up with the river, but the school will continue through the winter probably. Mrs. Collins was present and gave an account of an Orphan's Home which she established in Fort Worth, Texas. Mrs. Hawley and Ryckman delighted the audience with their music. The prospects for that school were never brighter.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

W. H. Sargent W. R. C. No. 21, will meet in Post hall in regular session Tuesday, Sept. 17th, at 2:30 p. m. The president desires to see each member as far as possible present as business from Department President Bell will be laid before the corps.

M. B. MILTIMORE, President.
M. B. BURDICK, Secretary.

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company will sell excursion tickets to Milwaukee and return every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, from August 31st to October 5th. Fare, $2.39 round trip, including ticket to exposition, good to return until the following Monday.

For the State Fair, tickets will be sold September 16th to September 21st, good to return until September 23d. Fare, $2.64, including ticket to State Fair.

If you could see your own scalp through an ordinary magnifying glass, you would be amazed at the amount of dust, dandruff, and dead skin thereon accumulated. The best and most popular preparation for cleansing the scalp is Ayer's Hair Vigor.

C. R. & R. whole, boned, cooked ham in all cans at Denniston's.

ANOTHER PRIZE WINNER.

THE GALBRAITHS SECURE A FINE TWO YEAR OLD CLYDE.

The Paisley and Renfrewshire Gazette, published at Paisley, Scotland, under date of August 24th, notices a recent purchase by the Galbraiths of a fine colt, and says:

"Messrs. Galbraith, Croy, Cunningham, Killearn, purchased in course of this week from Mr. Robert Wilson, Manswraes, Kilbarchan, the very superior two-year old colt, Columba, which gained first premium at Renfrewshire Agricultural Society's show in June last. We understand the colt is intended to represent the firm at the principal horse shows in America, where they expect him to repeat his Paisley victory. While this enterprising firm are to be congratulated on securing such an animal, combining symmetry, strength, and activity, the district he is leaving will correspondingly be the loser, as it is rare to find an animal having so many of the necessary qualifications of a heavy cart or lorry horse; or an entire so likely to leave the class of stock most in request at the present time. Columba was shown at Linlithgow and Bathgate last season, and was first on both occasions. This season, being first at Paisley, he was first for two-year old colts at Kilbarchan, and also first for the best entire horse, any age, open to all comers. Columba's price is needless to say, is in keeping with his qualifications, and said to be the largest the Messrs. Galbraith, who have probably shipped more first class entire horses to America than any private individual or firm, have ever paid for a horse of the same age. As he was expected to leave Glasgow last night, per Allan Line steamer "Pomeranean," it is to be hoped he may have a safe voyage, and do what is expected of him on the other side; and thereby retain the reputation alike of his new owners as well as of his former."

SPAIN'S INFANT KING.

A Visit to the Royal Infant and his Mother.

A friend of mine who has been visiting Spain, says the London Sunday Times, gives me the following pretty account of her visit to the Queen Regent and her son, the infant King. She says: "We paid a visit on our way through San Sabastian to the Queen. We found her majesty seated in an inner apartment of the villa which has been lent to her by the Duchess de Baiena. She did not keep us very long waiting in the corridor ere she sent an usher to lead us into her presence. She looked very elegant, and was simply dressed in a white soft silk spotted with black, and had a string of pearls around her neck. Her majesty entered into conversation about our journey through various parts of Spain, and then spoke very agreeably of the Queen of England's visit to her, telling us how charmed she was with the unaffected cordiality of Queen Victoria.

"After insisting upon our taking tea, we were led into the next room, where we found his Spanish majesty in a rather soiled white frock, sprawling on the floor. As he did not rise when we came in, his royal mother spoke very sharply to him and he presently got up and made us a civil sort of bow. We spoke to him in Spanish and he answered very readily, and then we ventured upon a few words of English, which he understood perfectly. He has an English nurse and is brought up rather after the style of English children. He is very good-natured looking and intelligent. His chief or head nurse is the Senora Tacon, who educated the Infanta Isabella, and goes with him everywhere, especially on the beach, where His Majesty has a very good time with any of the children of the aristocracy who may be playing about. He is extremely found of drilling little soldiers. The Queen told us a very funny story about him. It seems that during the winter, when he was attending mass, and the priests, as is usual with them, were mumbling the prayers, the King suddenly cried out in a loud voice: 'Habelle usted mas forte hombre,' which in English would be, 'Speak up, old chaps,' to the irresistible merriment of the congregation."

TELEPHONE EAR.

A New Disease That Is Attracting Some Medical Attention.

You have a telephone ear. You may not know it, but you have all the same. It is the left ear, for it is on record that only a very small percentage of men and women use the right ear at the telephone. As a matter of fact, the telephone has suddenly come into prominence as a medical proposition, and unless the scientists are mistaken the bulk of men and women who use the telephone within a few years may expect to find themselves rather hard of hearing in the left ear. This is because when using the telephone every muscle and nerve is strained to catch the faintest found from the person speaking at the other end. Dr. Oliver M. Moore, the eminent eye and ear specialist, was asked the other day if he had heard of any cases of deafness from the telephone.

"It is rather difficult to state exactly," he replied. "I have seen where the repeated sound of an instrument or the repetition of any sound has caused deafness. Telegraph operators are in danger of injuring their sense of hearing. Boilermakers often suffer from deafness. In the construction of boilers it is necessary for one man to be inside the boiler and the other outside and the incessant noise caused by the riveting of the boiler always causes either deafness or an affection of the ear. As to the telephone, it no doubt has the same effect. It is natural and reasonable to suppose that a person listening for a sound, and not knowing the moment when it will come, may injure the membrane of the ear, and in time this might affect the hearing power."

MADE THE PARROT TIRED.

Poll Wouldn't Stand a Discussion of the Tariff.

Harry Whitehouse of Omaha has a parrott named Jim which he prizes highly. Heretofore Jim has had the open sesame to every part of the house and has been the honored guest of every occasion of social importance. But henceforth Jim will be relegated to the woodshed when guests are entertained at the Whitehouse home. Jim is said to be the most proficient conversationalist of the entire Nebraska parrot family, and he spread himself the other day. A gentleman called on Mr. Whitehouse in the afternoon. The minutes flew by and became hours, and still the visitor remained. The gentleman's special hobby is the tariff question, and he discussed it one day to his heart's content. As the sun began to sink and there appeared to be no prospect of a termination of the long-winded debate, a shrill voice was heard from one corner of the room, the tones of which, clear and distinct, floated to the ears of the host and guest:

"Time's up, partner," was the brief but suggestive remark, and it brought the tariff talk to a close. The visitor blushed and reached for his hat, while Mr. Whitehouse ejaculated something not exactly appropriate for Sunday.

A Family Gathering.

Have you a father? Have you a son or daughter, sister or a brother who has not yet taken Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, the guaranteed remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup and all Throat and Lung troubles? If so, why, when a sample bottle is gladly given to you free by any druggist, and the large size costs only 50c and $1?

TODD'S.

"BURTON AND INDIA PALE ALES"

are acknowledged by judges to be superior to the Imported English Ales. They have the virtue of being stricly pure—nothing save malt and hops, and of the choicest quality, enters into their composition. Consequently all the nutritive tonic and restorative properties those ingredients are known to posess are found judiciously blended in these brands of ale.—Brewery east end Milwaukee street bridge.

"THE GREAT CORN PALACE."

The committees that have in charge the arrangements for the coming Corn Palace at Sioux City, promise a display far exceeding anything of the character heretofore attempted. The Corn Palace itself, built entirely of corn and grain, will fitly illustrate the agricultural resources of the vast area of country tributary to Sioux City, and the internal displays will epitomize the progress and enterprise of the hosts of earnest workers who are pushing the developement of that favored region in which "Corn is King."

To enable all to visit this "Eighth Wonder of the World," the Chicago & Northwestern Railway will sell Excursion tickets to Sioux City at half rates, or one fare for the round trip.

The Corn Palace will be open September 23d, and close October 5th, and during that period numerous special trains will be run for the accommodation of visitors.

Tickets and full information can be obtained on application to agents of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.
